College Park Addition

Historic Oakland Renovation

Merritt Park Whole House Renovation

College Park Major Addition

Above: This College Park home located near Little Lake Fairview was a beautiful residence but never had a garage. The addition to the front of the home includes a three car garage with game room and full bath above the new garage. A clever second floor galley connects the new addition to the second floor of the existing home.

Below: the second floor connector galley allows for a lovely main level arched walkway and courtyard.

Historic Renovation Brings Grace Back to Oakland Home

was salvageable and only needed refinishing.

Above: Requiring minimal work, the family room received new trim on the existing windows, and new wood floors that copy the original floors in the rest of the house. Casual finishes and furnishings create a relaxed atmosphere. Katie Georgelos Photography / Anne Rue Interiors

Above: refinished original floors are striking in the new dining room. The wall of the former porch, shown below, was closed in to create the dining room. Ceilings were raised to 9 feet, the height of ceilings in the rest of the house. Twin chandeliers were also added.

Merritt Park Whole House Renovation

Above: Located in a prime location on the edge of Winter Park, this 3,000 sq ft home was afforded an extensive whole house renovation for the new homeowner who could envision its great potential. The dated and neglected exterior was updated with a Spanish style elevation. This involved removing the entire roof to raise its pitch. To expand the living area, the two car garage was converted to living space; raised ceilings were designed for the kitchen, family room, and entry. The dining room now features an expansive picture window, and a front courtyard welcomes guests. The homeowner opted for a large, but detached three car garage.
